Management's discussion of fund performance

The fund's Class F-3 shares gained 6.99% for the year ended December 31, 2024. That result compares with a 1.25% gain for the Bloomberg U.S. Aggregate Index. For information on returns for additional periods, including the fund lifetime, please refer to capitalgroup.com/mutual-fund-returns-F3.

What factors influenced results

The U.S. Federal Reserve (Fed) lowered its monetary policy rate three times during the fund's fiscal year. Following rate cuts in September and November, the Fed reduced rates again in December 2024. While ultra-short bond yields fell, longer term yields increased. This upward trend in longer term yields reflected the bond market's anticipation of stronger U.S. economic growth.

Within the fund, sector and industry selection contributed positively to overall returns. Security selection in high yield and investment-grade corporate bonds were particularly additive to results during the period.

From a sector/industry perspective, allocations to high-yield derivatives and corporates were negative contributors. However, the fund's sector and industry allocation as a whole contributed positively on an excess return basis.

How a hypothetical $10,000 investment has grown

Figures assume reinvestment of dividends and capital gains.
