The fund's Class 1A shares gained 3.17% for the year ended December 31, 2024. That result compares with a 5.53% gain for the MSCI ACWI (All Country World Index) ex USA. What factors influenced results

During the fund's fiscal year, Europe's gross domestic product increased modestly, and inflation rose at year end. The UK economy rebounded in early 2024 but growth slowed in the three months to October. Japan saw modest growth after a first-quarter contraction. China faced stagnant consumption, a property crisis and rising debt. India saw strong growth but struggled with inflation.

Most sectors added to the fund's positive returns, particularly communication services, information technology and industrials. Likewise, utilities and consumer discretionary returns surpassed those of the overall portfolio. Financials and consumer staples were also positive, though below the portfolio's return. Geographically, holdings in companies listed in Canada and emerging markets were especially additive.

Investments in the energy, real estate and materials sectors were notable detractors to overall results. Likewise, the fund's holdings in companies based in the other Europe (outside the eurozone), Pacific ex-Japan and UK regions posted negative overall returns.
