Management's discussion of fund performance

The fund's Class 2 shares gained 28.29% for the year ended December 31, 2025. That result compares with a 33.57% gain for the MSCI Emerging Markets Index. For information on returns for additional periods, including the fund lifetime, please refer to capitalgroup.com/AFIS-returns-2.

What factors influenced results

Global equity markets delivered strong gains in 2025, overcoming trade tensions and geopolitical volatility. U.S. equities advanced on strong large cap technology growth, though lost momentum later in the year. Stocks in the U.K. and Japan benefited from accommodative monetary policies and fiscal stimulus measures. Emerging markets largely drove the rally, with strong returns from South Korea, Taiwan and China, while India remained relatively flat despite solid macroeconomic fundamentals.

Holdings in most sectors delivered positive returns for the fund, with shares of information technology and financial companies significantly boosting results. Returns from the industrials, communication services and materials sectors surpassed those of the overall portfolio. Companies based in South Korea, the U.S., Taiwan and China also made meaningful contributions to the fund.

In contrast, holdings in the real estate sector detracted from overall results, posting the lowest returns among all sectors. Likewise, holdings in companies based in Denmark and Indonesia were the most notable detractors for the portfolio.
