Management's discussion of fund performance

The fund's Class 1 shares gained 6.86% for the year ended December 31, 2024. That result compares with a 17.49% gain for the MSCI ACWI (All Country World Index). For information on returns for additional periods, including the fund lifetime, please refer to capitalgroup.com/AFIS-returns-1.

What factors influenced results

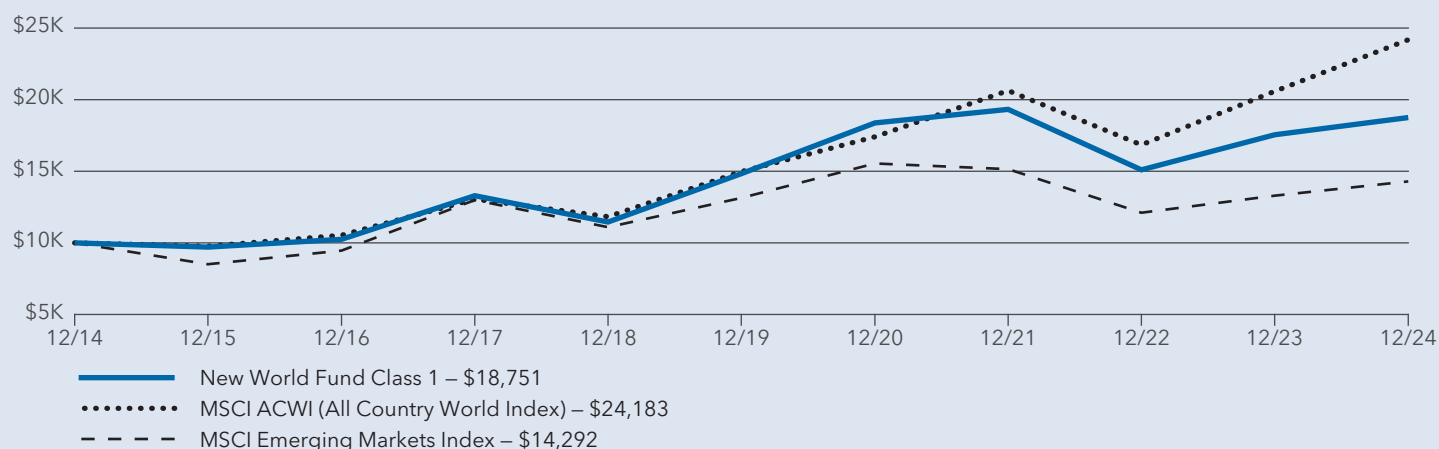

During the fund's fiscal year, U.S. economic growth remained solid, driven by strong consumer spending, despite uncertainties related to the presidential election, high interest rates and a slowing labor market. Japan and the eurozone saw modest growth while the UK economy contracted over the period. Among emerging economies, China faced stagnant consumption, a property market crisis and rising debt. Conversely, India showed resilience with strong growth and robust investment, though it struggled with inflation.

Holdings in most equity sectors produced positive returns for the fund. Shares of information technology and communication services companies were particularly additive to results. Holdings in the consumer discretionary, financials and real estate sectors were also positive, though they returned less than the portfolio's overall return. Geographically, shares of companies based in Canada, the U.S. and emerging markets were especially additive over the period.

In terms of detractors, holdings in the utilities, energy, materials and consumer staples sectors saw negative returns over the year. Likewise, investments in companies based in other European and Pacific regions posted negative overall returns.
