What were the fund costs for the last year? (based on a hypothetical $10,000 investment)

| Share class | Costs of a $10,000 investment | Costs paid as a percentage of a $10,000 investment |
|-------------|--------------------------------|---|
| Class F-3   | $35                           | 0.33%   |

Management's discussion of fund performance

The fund's Class F-3 shares gained 15.10% for the year ended February 28, 2026. That result compares with a 16.99% gain for the S&P 500 Index. For information on returns for additional periods, including the fund lifetime, please refer to capitalgroup.com/mutual-fund-returns-F3.

What factors influenced results

U.S. equities advanced during the period, rebounding from early 2025 volatility, driving the S&P 500 to record highs. Industrials, communication services and energy sectors led the gains, supported by resilient consumer spending and steady economic growth. Inflation showed signs of moderation, while softening in the labor market led the U.S. Federal Reserve to implement three 25-basis-point rate cuts during the period.

Within the fund, most sectors contributed to the portfolio, with information technology being particularly additive. Returns from the industrials and communication services sectors were also positive. The consumer staples, utilities, materials and energy sectors also posted double-digit returns, but had a less meaningful impact on portfolio returns due to low relative exposure.

Conversely, the financials and real estate sectors had negative results during the period. Holdings within health care also lagged.

How a hypothetical $10,000 investment has grown

Figures assume reinvestment of dividends and capital gains.

The change in the fund's independent registered public accounting firm was approved by the fund's board of trustees, including a majority of the independent trustees, upon recommendation of the audit committee, as part of a broader effort to update board oversight and fund operations. At no point during the fund's fiscal years ended February 29, 2024 and February 28, 2025 and the subsequent interim period through September 11, 2025, were there any disagreements between management and D&T on any matter of accounting principles or practices, financial statement disclosure or auditing scope or procedure.
